David,

Below is Dan Hardin's commentary on the TWDB population recommendations that is attached.

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Thanks

While the denial of the requested increase for the City of Mansfield in Johnson County may be controversial, the standard data cannot support this increase, or any further increase in the overall totals. If it is strongly felt that some increase must be recommended for Mansfield, it must be offset by reductions to other counties where growth is falling far short of projections. If asked for such a recommendation, I would suggest reducing the projections for Coryell County by up to 7.5%, and for Taylor County by up to 3.5%.
